VOL. XXIII. PORTLAND, OREGON: FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1883. NO. 7334

THE ELECTIONS.

Latest Returns Do Not Materially Change the Result.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE REPUBLICAN.

[illegible] Badly Snowed Under—Both Sides in New [illegible] Claim the Victory—Election Notes.

Massachusetts.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—Essex county returns a solid [illegible] delegation to the senate. The senate [illegible] 25 republicans and 15 democrats, a re[illegible] of 2.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—The state vote, with one town [illegible], stands: Robinson 160,175, Butler [illegible], Lincy 1352, scattering 30; total, 311,862.

New York.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—The Evening Journal says: [illegible] election returns increase General Carr's [illegible] to over 19,000, and leave little doubt of the [illegible] of the democratic candidates for the re[illegible] offices by majorities of between 10,000 and [illegible]. The assembly stands 72 republicans to 55 [illegible].

[illegible], Nov. 8.—The Sun will say: Corrected [illegible] no material change in the majorities of [illegible] ticket. The plurality of Carr, rep., for [illegible] secretary, is 18,000; Chapin, dem., for comp[illegible], 15,000 plurality; Maxwell, for treasurer, [illegible] 15,000 behind Chapin. The pluralities of the [illegible] candidates range from 13,000 to 14,000.

Pennsylvania.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—Official returns from 57 to [illegible] counties of the state, and estimates on the others, [illegible] 16,581 and Linsey 17,801 majority.

Virginia.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—Latest returns increase the [illegible] gains. Reports from all but two dis[illegible] give the democrats 23 senators and the coali[illegible] 15. Returns from both districts not fully [illegible] show heavy democratic gains, which, if [illegible] at points not heard from, give one or both [illegible] to the democrats. In the house of delegates the [illegible] so far have secured 63 member and the [illegible] 33. Of the four remaining delegates [illegible] democrats have one certain, which makes the [illegible] in the house 27 and on joint ballot not less [illegible]. The popular majority in the state will [illegible] 20,000.

Mississippi.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—Election returns are nearly all [illegible]. The joint legislature stands 136 democrats and [illegible] republicans and independents. The democrats [illegible] out of 12 district attorneys. The disturb[illegible] in [illegible] county was the only one reported in [illegible] on election day.

AFTERMATH.

[illegible] Comments upon the Result—Mahone in Court—Etc.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The World this [illegible] prints an interview with Henry Clausen, [illegible] of the brewers' association of the state of [illegible], who said: "Yes, we have gained our [illegible] and defeated Maynard. It is a fact and cannot [illegible]. The brewers are nearly all democrats, [illegible] party is liberal in its views upon tem[illegible], while the republicans are the contrary; but [illegible] their avowed platform the demo[illegible] a liberal ticket with an illiberal man. [illegible] should have known better than that and they [illegible] democratic votes by their action. We [illegible] and resolved that he should not have [illegible] support. Two million circulars and tickets [illegible] distributed in every town, village or hamlet [illegible] of our trade resided, with a request that [illegible] be distributed among those who favored [illegible]. In this way we covered every point [illegible] could hope to secure a vote. It will not [illegible] too much if we lay claim to having [illegible] because of turning over to Carr the entire [illegible] of votes he ran ahead of his ticket." In [illegible] large breweries yesterday extra kegs of beer [illegible] on tap and the glory of victory was much [illegible] with the foaming beverage. The employes [illegible] votes, each one claiming to have used all [illegible] to beat the 'mucker hypocrite,' as the [illegible] term Maynard.

ARTHUR AND HIS CABINET.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Post's Washington [illegible]: The president is reported very much elated [illegible] of the election in New York. To mem[illegible] of the cabinet who called upon him he ex[illegible] the greatest pleasure at the news, and pre[illegible] with confidence that the state would be re[illegible] next year. He expressed regret at the de[illegible] of Mahone. The members of the cabinet are [illegible] to express opinions individually, but do not [illegible] to be quoted. One said: "The election breaks [illegible] solid. It shows that the republican party has [illegible] hope of any electoral votes south of the Po[illegible]. The colored man cannot stand up in the [illegible] intimidation, and no support from the white [illegible] is likely to be strong enough to aid them. Our [illegible] lie in the north and west, and the re[illegible] of this election show that there our hopes have [illegible] foundations."

GETTING READY FOR THE NEXT CAMPAIGN.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Chairman N. A. [illegible], of the executive democratic state com[illegible], said to-night: "We shall begin to [illegible] and reorganize our forces in the [illegible] and next year, with Benjamin F. Butler [illegible] our standard bearer, we shall achieve [illegible]. When Massachusetts reduced a republican [illegible] from 75,000 to a paltry 9000, it shows that [illegible] people are wide awake, are thinking for them[illegible], and are no longer disposed to submit to po[illegible] bosses. We shall keep our doors open, and at [illegible] our next campaign."

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Mahone's news[illegible], the Richmond Whig, this morning says he [illegible] abandoned his hold on Virginia, and in[illegible] purpose to renew the agitation of the [illegible] question. One of Mahone's leaders, who has [illegible], says his defeat is directly attributable [illegible] Danville affair.

[illegible] C. Gorham, in the Republican this morn[illegible], in an article entitled "The Bloody Revolution in [illegible]," says: "The same shots in Danville which [illegible] proclaimed a solid south, just as surely [illegible] a solid north."

THE MAN WHO HIT BILLY MAHONE.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—William Long, a tobacconist, [illegible] that he is the person who hit General [illegible] in the face during a scuffle at the polls on [illegible]. Long explains that being pressed by [illegible] he (Long) raised his hands to clear him[illegible]. As he did so some one struck him [illegible] the right hand, which caused it to [illegible] General Mahone lightly in the face, which he [illegible] the general no serious injury.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—Senator Mahone was fined [illegible] for drawing a pistol at the polls. The [illegible] was crowded.

ROBINSON GIVEN A RECEPTION.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—Governor-elect Robinson was [illegible] reception to-night. After a parade he made [illegible] speech at the town hall, expressing gratifica[illegible] at the triumph of the people's cause, which, he [illegible] higher and better than any man.

HOPEFUL FOR THE FUTURE.

[illegible], Nov. 8.—The Herald states that Governor [illegible] told a member of his council that if he [illegible] run for governor next fall, the compliment of [illegible] votes leads him to think that he would be [illegible].

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

"The republican party of the nation," Senator [illegible] says, "is in a much better condition [illegible] than it was nine months before Garfield's [illegible]. The trouble is, people forget. The repub[illegible] will win in 1884."

[illegible] Herald says that during the [illegible] of the Tecumseh in that city [illegible] Tecumseh club was organized, with the [illegible] purpose of furthering General Sherman's [illegible] for the presidency by the republicans.

She had [illegible] young, a member of that church, and [illegible], until his death, a correspondence with [illegible] the Rev. Henry Ware. THE MORMON QUESTION.

What the Chicago "Times" Says of the Commissioners' Recommendation.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The Times will devote another large editorial to the Mormon question to-morrow, which will say: "There has appeared in some newspapers statements that Congressman Springer will favor the proposition of the Utah commissioners to repeal the present charter of the Mormon province, and put in its place an administrative establishment like that of the capital district. The municipal government of the district is nothing more than a board of three commissioners, who are appointed by the president, with approbation of the senate. All subordinate functionaries are appointed by and directly accountable to this board. There is no municipal legislature of any description, all legislative power over the district being held and exercised by congress. The arrangement has approved itself by its efficiency, economy and satisfactory working. From being the worst and most corruptly and recklessly administered city in America, with possibly the exception of New York, as it was under a territorial charter similar to that of Utah, Washington has become noted as the best regulated, best policed and in every way best administered American city. There is reason to believe that the administrative plan of the capital district could be advantageously extended not merely to Utah, but to Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho, Montana and other thinly populated districts. The advantages would appear in more simple, effective and economical appliance of officialism. But it is not on account of such recommendations of it that either the Utah commissioners or Mr. Springer favor it. They advocate the application of it in Utah because they say it would 'solve the Mormon problem' and would 'deprive the Mormon church of its power,' meaning probably the political power, for it clearly would not deprive that church of its ecclesiastical and spiritual power. Can only a change of form in civil government alter the case? Perhaps if congress should enact that Mormons shall be found guilty of celestial marriage, without trial by jury, and also without evidence, it might, but it happens that congress has not authority to do this, either as a solution of the Mormon problem, or of the problem of polygamy. The project favored by Springer is as worthless as the rest of the legislature panaceas. The only way to cure the celestial marriage distemper in Utah is to attack not the Mormon church but the religious belief of the Mormons. There can be no more effective way of attacking that than the one which the Times has suggested, namely, to send Mr. R. G. Ingersoll to Utah to preach religious unbelief.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

GANG OF SHOPLIFTERS ARRESTED.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The police this afternoon and to-night arrested twelve members of a thoroughly organized gang of shoplifters. They include, as a leader, a woman known to the police as Mother Weir, and her two sons and two daughters; over $2000 worth of stolen goods were recovered. It is estimated that the peculations of the band, nearly all of whom are women, amount to from $10,000 to $15,000 within the past few months. All are fine looking women, elegantly dressed. The method of operation was for a couple of women to enter a carriage, with one of Mother Wier's sons as coachman, and go "shopping" among the larger stores till the carriage was filled with plunder, when it would be taken to a place of deposit. One of Mother Wier's daughters lately returned from New York, having served a term on Blackwell's island.

DESPERATE FIGHT WITH A BAND OF THIEVES.

LANCASTER, Nov. 8.—Hallinger's store at Lincoln was robbed last night, and a large posse started in pursuit of the thieves. Buzzard and his gang recently escaped jail. The thieves were overtaken at Welch mountain, and a fight followed. John Clifford escaped, but the others were captured. Buzzard, the leader, was shot seriously, and Bard, one of the posse, was probably shot fatally. The thieves escaped.

PITTSBURG TROUBLED WITH A GANG OF THIEVES.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 8.—It is evident that a gang of expert thieves are working in this locality. This week three extensive robberies have been committed. The boldest was the breaking into of the safe of Samuel Shultz, a storekeeper a few miles from the city, early this morning. The robbers hauled the safe out of the building on planks, blew it open with powder and got $3200 in cash and jewelry. Three thousand dollars worth of cloth stolen Tuesday has been recovered, and three men and a woman arrested, but it is thought there are dozens in the gang.

A BAD CITY MARSHAL KILLED.

HEARNE, Tex., Nov. 8.—A bad feeling has existed some time between City Marshal Cannon and Albert Bishop, a promising young lawyer. This morning Cannon, pistol in hand, followed Bishop into a yard, where the lawyer unexpectedly produced a double-barreled shotgun and perforated Cannon with twenty-nine buckshot, killing him instantly. Cannon had been marshal four years, during which time he killed two men. He had a state reputation.

A WOMAN PROBABLY MURDERED.

ANDERSON, Ind., Nov. 8.—Mrs. Susannah Nelson started to Nebraska September 5 and has not since been heard of by her friends. She had a large sum of money with her. Marshal Coburn to-day made it known to her brothers that he had found a fire insurance policy, issued to Mrs. Nelson, in the woods near Terre Haute, where some time ago the badly mutilated body of a woman was found by a hunter. He claims to have proof that Mrs. Nelson was murdered.

BAND OF THIEVES BROKEN.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 8.—Lancaster county, Pa., has for six weeks been suffering from the depredations of a band of outlaws, who escaped from jail six weeks ago and have since been hiding in the mountains. Villagers and farmers armed and pursued the convicts, and a running fight of several miles resulted in the capture of one and the serious wounding of three of the gang. The infuriated farmers are still keeping up the pursuit.

CHARGED WITH BUYING VOTES.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Nov. 8.—Proceedings have been begun against the city assessor, Charles Colwell, A. A. Brush, warden of Sing Sing prison, Robert Morey, a New York custom house officer, and several other prominent politicians, charging them with buying votes Tuesday.

THEATRICAL MANAGER KILLED.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—S. M. Suggs, a member of a traveling troupe, killed L. J. Platter, the manager, in Adairsville last night. The quarrel arose over possession of some bills.

The Besser-Watkinds Accusation.

Evening Telegram.

Last night the chief of police of this city, in a communication to the common council, asserted that on or about the 28th of September an attempt was made by a representative of this paper to bribe the clerk of the said chief of police. He specifies that the representative of this paper "proposed to said clerk that he would present bills for printing done for the police office, in which he would charge up double or more than the regular prices, and if the bills were allowed and paid he would divide with the clerk to the amount so overpaid." Further, that the representative of this paper "told the clerk that they had such an arrangement with the chief's predecessor (Lappeus); that it was all right, and that bills had always been settled in that way, etc."

The statement is wholly false, in letter, word, spirit, intent and purpose. "My clerk," whom Watkinds says there was an attempt to bribe, was none other than Luzerne Besser. This accusation is given upon Besser's sole authority, a man who would not be believed by this community in any statement he might make, on oath or otherwise.

In this matter he has maliciously and shamelessly lied, and Watkinds must know it. No representative of this paper, clerk or other person connected with it, ever had such conversation with him as Watkinds sets forth in his communication to the common council. Nor were any bills ever presented for advertising done for the police office in excess of the rates charged for ordinary and usual advertising. Nor was any talk ever had with Besser about the rates, except on a single occasion, when he called at the publication office and inquired what the rates would be. They were stated to him, and the advertisements then were sent in for insertion.

To meet this slanderous statement fully and in all its parts, this paper hereby also replies that no "arrangement" like that asserted by Watkinds and Besser ever was made by it with Watkinds' predecessor; nor were bills with the police office, or bills with any other person or office, ever "settled or collected in this way" by this paper, or by any one representing it. It always does business on strictly honorable principles of business. Fortunately, however, no one will for a moment believe Besser—nor Watkinds either.

This infamous scoundrel, Besser, is the clerk over whose loss the chief of police, in this same communication to the common council, so loudly mourns. He reproaches the council for dismissing him from office, and says he does not know the reason why he was dismissed. It is sufficient to say that the common council, in its resolution to dismiss him, gave him an ample statement of the reason. He had entered into a contract with the mayor of the city to buy and sell offices, and otherwise to scandalize and corrupt the city government. The council, out of self-respect and a regard for public opinion, was compelled to dismiss him; and it would have expelled the mayor likewise, had its power over him been sufficient for the purpose.

Nevertheless, it appears that Chief Watkinds still longs for the personal association and official companionship of the corrupt and dishonored scoundrel who was his clerk, and whom the council dismissed for infamous conduct. The inference therefore is that the chief approves the "Chapman-Besser contract," finding it a good thing because it was the means of making Chapman mayor and so bringing himself into office. His attachment to Besser under the circumstances is therefore not surprising, particularly when his own notoriously low moral tone and insatiate greed of office are considered. If he thinks, by yoking himself up with Besser, to make the public believe "my clerk's" lies against the business integrity of this paper, and supposes this paper will not resent it and brand his effort as it deserves, he is very much mistaken.

A Panther in Hamilton County.

Saratoga Saratogian.

Our Hope and Wells correspondent tells the following story of a panther seen in that vicinity: "While Peter Fuller was going home his horse became suddenly frightened and ran home, a distance of about half a mile. Mr. Fuller, with two or three others, armed with guns and accompanied by a dog, returned to investigate. They saw something moving, then heard several frightful screams, and finally saw the animal, which they had now no difficulty in recognizing as a panther, run up a tree. They thought home was the safest place, and left the panther, undisturbed, 'monarch of all he surveyed.' The next morning Mr. Platt, who was sleeping in an unfinished house a short distance in the woods, said that he was treated to a serenade of six or seven screams, which somewhat frightened him, as his house was only partly inclosed and had no roof."

Clearing House Returns.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The Public says Exchanges turn out a shade better for October than seemed likely when two weeks of the month had past, but returns for the week ending November 3, are disheartening again. For the month a gain of 20 per cent. appears in the aggregate outside of New York, though it is far outweighed by a loss of $495,672,179, or 16.7 per cent., in exchanges at New York. After deduction of double the market value of stocks for the week ending November 3, which includes the 1st, 2d and 3d days, on which many monthly payments are made, exchanges show an aggregate outside of New York of 6.9 per cent. less than for the corresponding week of last year, and exchanges at New York, not presumably derived from stock operations, amount only to $561,186,804, against $748,885,926 last year, a loss of 25 per cent. Putting the two together we have about $852,600,000, exclusive of New York operations, against about $1,061,600,000 last year, a decrease of $209,400,000, or 19.7 per cent. Moreover, out of the ten largest cities not one reports any increase worth counting, and only one of any increase whatever, whereas for October five of the same cities reported gains.

Fearful Tragedy Near Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—A fearful tragedy was enacted to-day at the farmhouse of H. Clay McGee, ten miles south of this city. His children, returning home from school this afternoon, found the lifeless bodies of their father, mother and older sister lying upon the floor. McGee evidently had killed his wife, shooting her in the breast with a shotgun. He shot his daughter in the back, and then completed the horror by going to an upper room and swallowing a dose of morphine. The house being isolated the neighbors were not aroused, and the bodies consequently lay until discovered by the children late in the day. The immediate cause for the deed is not known. McGee is described as a man of violent temper, amounting almost to frenzy at times. He was a prosperous farmer, having come into the vicinity several years ago from Kentucky, where it is said he once killed a man. There were six children, some of them married. Mary, the murdered daughter, was 20 years of age. Another daughter, wife of Mr. Sands Hopkins, member of an old family here, was accidentally shot and killed by her husband some months ago. McGee was 45 or 50 years of age.

McGee has for some time borne an unsavory reputation among his neighbors on account of harsh treatment of his family and the tragedy to-day is supposed to be the result of domestic discord of long standing.

Mormon Recruits from Europe.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A new contingent of 358 proselytes of the Latter-day Saints arrived from Liverpool on the Wisconsin yesterday. A large number of them were comely young women, and the party was under charge of twenty returning elders, who had been on a recruiting service for about two years and a half. Of the 358 120 were Scandinavians and the rest English, Scotch and Welsh. The men were farmers, miners and laborers. It was learned that there are two classes of Mormons recruiting—one known as the branch of Josephites, or followers of Joseph Smith, and the other polygamists, or supporters of polygamy. The new arrivals will decide at some future time which faith they will embrace.

Mexican Capitalists on an Excursion.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—The Journal's Chihuahua, Mexico, special announces the departure from there to-night of an excursion party of capitalists and merchants, representing sixty millions or more capital and including some of the most prominent business men of the Mexican republic. The party travel as guests of the Mexican Central, Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific roads, and will arrive here Monday night next. After visiting here they will go to St. Louis, and thence to Chicago. Extensive preparations are making for their entertainment here by the city officials and business men. The excursion originated with a view to the establishment of new trade relations with northern Mexico.

The President and the Isthmus Canal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A Washington special declares the president will seriously call the attention of congress this year to the imperative importance of giving serious consideration at no distant day to the Isthmus canal question. It is understood the executive regards operations of DeLesseps at Panama, under authority of the French government, as making it hazardous to delay much longer some definite action on our part, in order that our position may be clearly established, with an eye to future contingencies. He has observed with interest, it is understood, the progress of European sentiment with reference to the Suez canal, and regards with favor an early expression by congress with reference to an interoceanic highway at Nicaragua or some other point.

Stock Meetings.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The annual national fat stock show will be held here, beginning November 14. Entries will be received from all parts of the country and from Great Britain.

On the 15th and 16th the national convention of cattle breeders and raisers will be held here, at the call of Professor Loring, president of the United States Cattle Commission, for the purpose of consulting in regard to prevention of the spread of contagious diseases among cattle. England, Germany and France will send commissioners to this meeting.

Frank Hurd vs. Randall.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—At Washington yesterday, ex-Speaker Kiefer said: "Frank Hurd claims that nothing will prevent him from opening the tariff question, and that he will introduce a free trade bill the first day of the session, if he can, and that Morrison and Tucker will help him too." Said Kiefer: "Carlisle is pledged to organize the house in the interest of free trade, if he is elected. Leading free trade democrats have assured me of that. Frank Hurd talks openly, and Randall cannot keep the free traders down."

American Dogs to Compete in Europe.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Dr. N. Rowe, editor of the American Field, has entered in the English kennel club's Derby, to be run at Horseheath, Eng., the first week in May next, seven setter puppies of one litter, now seven months old. Their dam, Marchioness Peg, will be sent over, also, and probably one or two other dogs belonging to the same kennel, and be run in the all-age stakes. This will be the first time American dogs have crossed the Atlantic to compete against dogs of Europe.

An End to Jackson's Rule.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The president has so amended civil service rule No. 8 that it now distinctly prohibits the appointing power alike in every department, and in every postoffice and customs office, from making any discrimination in selections for appointments by reason of any political or religious opinions or affiliations.

The New Time Recommended.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 8.—Governor Crittenden has issued a proclamation recommending that the corporation and citizens of the state adopt the new standard time to be inaugurated by the railroads the 18th inst. The time in this division would be nearly the solar time of St. Louis.

Signal Office Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The chief signal officer, in his annual report, says the service has been seriously crippled by the diminished appropriation, and urges congress to be more liberal in the future. He recommends a separate office on the Pacific coast, and extensive service in that important region.

The Springfield Cyclone.

ACCIDENTS.

KILLED BY A FALLING CAPITOL BUILDING.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 8.—An entire roof, inside wall and iron and stone column of the new south wing of the capitol fell at 1:40 P. M. Barney Higgins and William Edgar of Madison were killed instantly. William Jones, boss mason, of Milwaukee, had his skull fractured and is dying. Eight others were badly injured and may die.

Five men had left the basement, and were about returning when the crash came. Hundreds of people were at once on the scene, and with the aid of a hook and ladder company extricated every sufferer. Medical attendance was summoned, and the wounded removed to places of safety. Some ascribe the accident to a defective iron pillar; others to poor masonry. It is the opinion of the contractor, Bently, that the loss will fall on the commonwealth, as the plans were approved by the state architect, and the blame can be ascribed to no one. It is thought there must have been a defect in some casting. The loss cannot be estimated at present. The additions were to be completed March 1, 1884. Two hundred thousand dollars were appropriated by the legislature to meet the necessary expense. The wing was designed for the historical society to use.

TERRIBLE TRAIN COLLISION.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8.—In an accident on the Pan Handle, near Newark, this morning, John Matthews, engineer, and J. Kennedy, fireman, of the Baltimore and Ohio train, were instantly killed. David Wilson, baggageman, received severe cuts, and Davis, engineer, and Frank Powell, fireman, of the Pan Handle freight, were both badly hurt, and, it is thought, cannot recover. The engines of both trains were badly smashed up.

PENSION FRAUDS.

Attorney General Brewster Lends a Helping Hand to the Work of Reform.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The following letter from the attorney general explains itself. Under previous instructions from him Colonel Corkhill, United States district attorney, has nearly completed a number of cases of frauds upon pension claimants for the action of the grand jury. He has received a large number of fraudulent circulars, and letters explaining the use made of them. He is desirous that soldiers or their friends having copies of such circulars, or knowledge of such attempted frauds, will at once send him full information, and be particular to send the number by which the claim in each case is known at the pension office:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.

To the secretary of the interior: Referring to your letter of the 2d, respecting the appointment by the commissioner of pensions of a person to aid the United States district attorney of this district in an investigation of all claims for pensions and bounties, in connection with charges made against attorneys, to examine such cases as the district attorney shall desire to present to the grand jury, I agree with you that such appointment cannot be made to examinations where offenses charged are not offenses against the United States; but the district attorney, in his letter to you, includes cases where these pension agents make formal applications to the pension office, well knowing that the claims they present are fraudulent. This is an offense against the United States. So far as the district attorney makes charges of crimes against the United States he should be aided in his examination of such cases by an officer of the pension bureau, specially detailed for that purpose. The evil set forth by the district attorney is a growing one, and all means that can legally be employed to suppress it ought to be put in motion. To that end permit me to send you advance proof sheets of the second auditor's report, which discloses a frightful condition of organized fraud against the poor and helpless who have either served their country themselves, and live maimed and broken down in health, or who have left destitute widows and children, all of whom are now victims of these designing, bad men, who rob them of their little savings and earnings under color of gains they are never to have, and overload the public departments with work that hinders the necessary progress of their proper business. If this can be put an end to by the intervention of officers of the United States—if they can be punished—it ought to be.

BREWSTER.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The Bulls Control the Market, and Prices Advance Generally.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Governments were a fraction lower for 4½ coupons. The stock market showed much more strength to-day than yesterday, and though it was dull, prices gradually crept upward all day, and at the last became more active, advancing rapidly, and at the close showing a gain of ¼ to 2¾ over the close of yesterday. Dividend stocks attracted attention to-day, and are all higher. Of these dividend-paying stocks, the Post says: "To those who have closely watched the tactics of speculators on the street it is plain the depression in prices and the distrust has been largely produced by deliberate lying by a clique, whose purpose has been to depress prices." This is, however, getting understood now, and the class of stocks referred to are being gradually taken up and withdrawn from the street. Northern Pacific common, commanded 1 6⅛ per cent. for use. To-day it was announced that the Northern Pacific syndicate had secured over a million more stock and proxies than necessary for ratification of the issue of the new second mortgage loan. The amount required is $31,100,000, and the syndicate holds over $32,000,000. Proxies are coming in daily, and it is expected the syndicate's holdings on the day of the meeting, November 20, will exceed the amount required by several millions. Oregon Transcontinental was also a feature, and advanced nearly 2 per cent. A large short interest made yesterday is not yet covered. Sellers at 60 options in Oregon Navigation and Manitoba are about coming due, and it is expected sellers will experience some difficulty in securing stocks, owing to their scarcity.

"Kiernan's News" Report.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Kiernan's News-Letter has the following on Oregon Transcontinental: "To-day Keene, through his agents, manipulated the market. Addison Cammack put out some lines of shorts, and it is reported that the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and Oregon Transcontinental, which he took in on Monday, he put out to-day. Dispatches purporting to come from Canada, stating that the government had decided not to guarantee the Canadian Pacific 3 per cent. interest, were pronounced false. Later in the day the bears accounted for the free selling of Oregon Transcontinental by stating that the company had ordered the sale of $1,000,000 of the stock. Another report was that Vice-President Oakes would resign the presidency of the Northern Pacific company. Both these reports had no foundation, and only caused a momentary flurry in stocks."

RAILROAD NOTES.

MEETING OF TRUNK LINE PRESIDENTS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A meeting of trunk line presidents was held to-day in Commissioner Fink's office. After investigation of the charges against the Erie railroad it was decided to let the matter drop, as sufficient evidence was not adduced to substantiate the charges. Among other matters discussed was the formation of an east bound freight pool for trunk lines, and an agreement was arrived at which will go into effect as soon as arrangements in regard to percentages are adjusted. A meeting of the representatives of the Chicago east-bound freight pool was also held; and the first settlement made was on the basis of percentages recommended by Commissioner Fink. The question of classification and rates for the transportation of live stock and dressed beef was also discussed. No final agreement was reached. It was decided to make a uniform advance for the winter season of five cents per hundred weight on all freight, irrespective of classification, east bound from Chicago. The new schedule takes effect the 20th inst.

RUMORED SALE OF THE CALIFORNIA SOUTHERN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Mail and Express: "It is rumored that the sale of the California Southern road to the Southern Pacific is being negotiated. Boston interests are reported very unwilling to lose control of the California Southern, on account of a belief that the loss of the road would be a blow not only to the Atlantic and Pacific, but to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system."

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL POOL.

TOPEKA, Nov. 8.—The transcontinental pool association was in session all day, but nothing can be learned of their proceedings. The Colorado association will not meet again till the transcontinental people finish their business.

TRANSFERRED TO A FEDERAL COURT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The suit of John J. Bradley to restrain the Northern Pacific Company from further mortgaging the property, has been removed from the state to the federal court.

SUNDAY IN LONDON.

Not only Saloons but Eating Houses Closed According to Law.

Correspondence of the Baltimore American.

Talk about the Sunday law and its enforcement in Baltimore! It does not compare to the observance of that day in this great city. One hardly knows London to-day after the bustle and whirl of yesterday. The stores are closed, the wagons have disappeared, the cabs seem to run more quietly, and the people seem almost afraid to speak aloud. What a contrast after a continental Sabbath! I was hungry this morning, and thought I would go to the Criterion and get some lunch. Imagine my surprise when I arrived at the great restaurant and found it closed; the Gaiety and St. James, likewise. All down the Strand, up in the West End, and even to "the city," the restaurants were closed tighter than the proverbial clam. Not a place to eat on Sunday save the dining room of a hotel. The chop house the "grill rooms" and the "buffets" are all closed until 6 o'clock in the evening, and even the drinking bars or ale houses—as far as exteriors are concerned—are dark and uninviting. Unless you know the proprietor, and can enter by the "family" or "wholesale liquor" entrance, there is no use trying to get in before 1 o'clock. There are plenty of churches to visit, and good sermons are preached, and the people seem to take advantage of this, and go to church. At Spurgeon's tabernacle the crowd is always great, and every stranger pays it one visit at least. When you approach the entrance you are met by a verger or official, who gives you an envelope. This envelope requests you to give a contribution—a penny or more—and drop it in the box provided. The far-seeing, as well as the charitable, do this, and to them the side-gate or door is open. The sexton places you in a back seat and requests you to wait until 10:50 o'clock. The rule is, pew-holders must be in their seats by that time or lose their places. When the hour arrives the sexton tells you to go up the aisles and take any seat vacant. When those who have contributed are seated, the great doors are opened and the crowd is admitted. Then the services begin.

ENGLAND.

GOVERNMENT IN JAMAICA.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The West India association had an interview with Derby, colonial secretary, to-day, and expressed a feeling that in Jamaica, because the people have no control over the legislative council, an extension was desired by a number of unofficial members of the legislature. Lord Derby said the home government are considering the matter. It was not advisable to return to the colonial government, abolished in 1866, and the quasi-despotic government now existing could not be permanent. The government had determined to take a new departure in the government of Jamaica, but it would be unwise to declare details at present.

THE LANCASHIRE COLLIERY DISASTER.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—A large number of bodies are still in the Lancashire coal mine in which the explosion took place yesterday. Friends of the dead crowd the mouth of the pit.

Four men were killed, and two or three will die. Twenty-one were wounded—many seriously. The cause of the accident is somewhat uncertain, but the most plausible theory is that the heavy pillars supporting the roof of the second story of the balcony sank into the plank on which they rested, thus forcing the wall outward, which in turn caused the roof of the entire wing to cave in. These columns were made of large pieces of boiler iron, rolled into circular form, stove-pipe fashion, the joints not being bolted together.

DUBLIN, Nov. 8.—In consequence of the Parnell campaign in Ulster it is proposed to form a constitutional organization, apart from Orangeism. FRANCE.

THE FRANCO-CHINESE DIFFICULTY.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—China's note to Marquis Tseng, it is said, alludes to a proffer of mediation by a power friendly to both, supposed to be the United States, and rejected by France.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—It is stated that Prime Minister Ferry told the department he had no intention of making a proposition to the chamber of deputies to send more troops to Tonquin, and that he was confident they could conduct the campaign successfully with the present force.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—In the chamber of deputies the minister of marine to-day asked for a supplementary grant of 11,500,000 francs for military operations at Tonquin.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Dr. Harmand, now in Hue, says the emperor is very friendly to the French, but the Mandarians are hostile.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Standard's Paris correspondent had an interview with Ferry. He denied that France had any intention of annexing New Guinea. With regard to China Ferry entertains an opinion that the Chinese diplomats are neither frank, honest or tolerable. He utterly disbelieves in the military power of China, and is firmly convinced there is not the remotest chance for that country going to war. Ferry does not see any such eventualities as a French blockade of Chinese ports. Tonquin is not a Chinese possession. France had treaty rights over Tonquin, and would not retreat from her position at the dictation of China. When the French were firmly established in the river delta another market would be opened, and the Chinese would then acquiesce.

SPAIN.

NOTES FROM MADRID.

MADRID, Nov. 8.—Emperor William has informed the Spanish government that he would be pleased to return Alfonso's visit in person, were it not for his advanced age.

The Spanish government has received from France an apology, settling the Franco-Spanish controversy, which grew out of the ill-treatment of Alfonso while in Paris. France ratifies President Grevy's declarations in the official journal, and authorizes Spain to publish them in her official gazette.

GERMANY.

THE CROWN PRINCE WILL VISIT ALFONSO.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—The crown prince of Germany is expected shortly to visit King Alfonso.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—An aide-de-camp of the emperor has gone to Madrid with an autograph letter stating that the crown prince Frederick William will visit Alfonso. The crown prince will reach Genoa about the 16th inst., from which port he will be escorted by three German men-of-war to Spain.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—The proposed visit of the crown prince to Spain has created a great sensation here. There are misgivings that France will perceive in the visit a fresh element of irritation.

MADRID, Nov. 8.—The king and council decided that great festivities and military parades will be held during the visit of the crown prince of Germany.

Eighteen members of the radical committee here, including Paschitch, radical leader, have been arrested. The result of General Nicolic's attack upon 5000 insurgents at Ocnaka is still unknown. It is believed the insurgents will soon be crushed, as the royalist forces are surrounding them.

CHINA.

LATEST NEWS FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

HONG KONG, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Admiral Courbet has decided to postpone his advance upon Bacninh, where the Chinese garrison are preparing for desperate resistance. He proposes to wait until the rice crop is gathered and the roads, still sodden from inundations, have become sufficiently hard for the transport of heavy cannon, which he intends to use in the siege. The march will begin during the first week in December, when the Chinese government will have made up its mind whether it will assist the garrison or leave them to their fate.

Dr. Harmand, French civil commissioner, leaves for France by the first mail steamer. His removal from command is regarded as doing away with the only obstacle of a successful campaign. Since he was superseded there has been perfect accord between the naval and military forces, and their jealousies have entirely disappeared.

From Chinese sources it is learned that General Fang, a distinguished Chinese officer, is coming from the north to take command in the south. He has won an excellent reputation for putting down rebellions, and has the confidence of the war party. The troops which he will command are now gathering in large numbers on the Tonquin frontier. Throughout the empire military preparations are being actively pushed forward, and all the arsenals are busy. Many regiments which have been stationed in the northern districts are marching toward the south. The authorities are making efforts to counteract the effect of recent French reinforcements.

TERRIBLE DUEL IN CHAPULTEPEC.

CITY OF MEXICO, via Galveston, Nov. 8.—A duel in Chapultepec was fought this morning between Deghcest, of the Mexican National bank, and Olivier, a French merchant. The latter was killed, and Deghcest was badly wounded. Swords were used. All the parties are well known. The trouble was caused by a dispute over seats at the races on Sunday. The British minister, two American ladies and Deghcest left their seats to promenade, and Olivier and two ladies occupied them. A quarrel ensued between Deghcest and Olivier, and the former called the police and the latter was ejected. The incident caused several challenges to Deghcest. He had another duel arranged for to-morrow. There is intense excitement among foreigners.

A ROYAL CONGRESS.

The Czar Refuses to Visit Emperor William—A Serious Rupture Threatened.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—What may prove to be an embarrassing if not serious rupture between the imperial courts of Berlin and St. Petersburg has just been announced. The Grand Duke Vladimir, eldest brother of the czar had arranged to make a state visit to Emperor William, at Berlin. It is understood there was a good deal of difficulty in bringing about the visit. When the czar was recently a guest of the king of Denmark, and attracted the attention of all Europe by the length of his stay at Copenhagen and the character of the visitors he received Germany attempted to arrange a meeting between the czar and Emperor William. This event was expected to counteract rumors that the principal business of the czar and Gladstone at Copenhagen was for the formation of an anti-German alliance. The emperor of Russia accepted the emperor of Germany's invitation to meet him, and this acceptance was widely heralded in Germany's interest. But when, in response to Alexander's inquiry as to the place of the conference, William named Kiel, in Holstein, the loss of which remains to this day one of Denmark's most bitter grievances, the czar promptly declined the conference.

A DISAGREEABLE COOLNESS RESULTS.

Here the affair appeared to terminate, but it soon leaked out that the czar considered the naming of Kiel not only as an insult to his host and relative, the king of Denmark, but an affront to himself, inasmuch as a conference there at the time and under the circumstances would have entrapped Russia into an apparent endorsement of the partition. This incident produced a disagreeable coolness between Germany and Russia, which Berlin statesmen have ever since been attempting to remove. The czar finally arranged to have his brother Vladimir pay a royal visit to Germany, and this event was also largely heralded. To-day, however, it is announced that the Duke Vladimir has postponed his engagement with the German emperor. The explanation offered is that Russia prefers to avoid misapprehension, which might be produced by the simultaneous presence in Berlin of the Grand Duke Vladimir and the Austrian prince imperial, Rudolph, both as guests of the German emperor. It is said that the czar, when he arranged Vladimir's visit, had no idea that his brother would meet the Austrian prince, Rudolph. It is reported that Russia is greatly irritated at the effusiveness of the reception accorded by the German court to the arch-duke upon his arrival in Berlin Sunday, and there is suspicion at the Russian court that Germany intended to make use of this dual visit to influence public opinion as to the relations between Germany and Russia.

CANADA.

VAN HORNE MAKES A DENIAL.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—General Manager Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific railroad who arrived here to-day, says there has been no suspension of work on the Rocky mountain section, except what has been absolutely necessary. Work could not be easily continued through the mountains in winter owing to snow slides, but will be pushed in the spring and the whole line to the Pacific coast will be finished in 1885, as bargained. If it was necessary to push work through the Rocky mountains during the winter they could do so, but there was no hurry. There had been no disagreement among the engineers as to the practicability of Kicking Horse pass.

WATERING STOCK.

The Practice Condemned by a Special Committee of the New York Chamber of Commerce.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The business of importance before the chamber of commerce to-day was the presentation of the report of the special committee on railway transportation and on the watering of the stocks of corporations. The committee's report states that such watering operations similar to the late issue of $13,000,000 of Manhattan elevated railroad stocks constituted a grave offense against the community and should be made a misdemeanor by law; that capitalization of surplus earnings should be prohibited by law; that increases of capital, either by stock or bond issues, should be defined by stringent legal formulas, easily understood, and only permitted for good and sufficient public reasons, and not because it can be shown that a corporation can be made to pay a fair dividend on an increased capital; that the public welfare requires that corporations should be subject to government supervision and control; that such government supervision should have power to regulate and control within reasonable limit the charges of these corporations; that ordinary differences arising between these corporations and their customers should be decided by government commissioners without the expensive and tedious delays incident to a law suit. Then there should be no fixed limit to the rate of cash dividends, corporations acting under such supervision as above indicated may pay to the stockholders by reason of superior management of their affairs or increased prosperity, but such questions should be left to the legislative power which created them to decide upon the necessarily varying conditions of each case. The committee further say that where there was competition between the different railroad lines the public would be protected in the matter of rates. Pooling on through traffic however, had to a great extent abrogated competition.

VALUE OF TRANSCONTINENTAL STOCK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—It is said on the stock exchange that Boston holders of Oregon Transcontinental stock became uneasy on account of the depreciation in its price, and asked questions which Mr. Villard answered by placing the books at the disposal of the expert employed by the Boston people. The expert is said to have finished his investigation and reported that the stock is worth much more than the present price. The statement was said to be in the possession of parties here but to be much less in detail than might have been expected. Charles F. Tag, the millionaire tobacco exporter, who is the special partner of a leading house, said to-day that he believed Oregon Transcontinental stock to be worth much more than the price it is bringing. He, himself, is a large holder for investment and one of President Villard's staunch supporters. He says that insiders are buying the stock and will put up its price. They are playing with the market in order to buy back cheap the stock they sold around 90. Every time they sell 1000 shares they buy back 10,000. Mr. Tag states that when the money due from the Northern Pacific company is paid back this month, and the securities pledged to the Farmer's Loan and Trust company are redeemed, the stock will be worth 75 or 80. Besides the Oregon Railway and Navigation and the Northern Pacific common and preferred stocks in its treasury, he knows that it has over $7,000,000 of other securities. The general belief on the street is that no great decline will take place in any of the Villard stocks until the bankers syndicate has been able to place the new mortgage loan with the public. A favorable Transcontinental statement may be looked for on or about the 20th inst., and there may be a boom then pulled about that time. This is on the supposition that the stocks need support to sustain them either on their own account or because of a bear market.

A PUSS NOW IN FASHION.

Costly Angora and Persian Cats Taking the Place of Dogs as Pets.

New York Mail and Express.

"Are Angora cats getting to be fashionable for pets?" asked a reporter of an east side dealer.

"Oh yes, indeed," was the reply; "within the last month the demand has been quite large, and, strange to say, I sell as many by mail as I do in the city. Only yesterday I sent one to New Orleans, and last week one to Chicago. They seem to be rapidly taking the place of pugs. Come in and see the cats."

So saying the reporter was shown into a room where a dozen or more animals with long tails and hair sweeping the floor were playing together or sleeping on their cushions. Some were white, some tortoise and others mouse-colored, or blue, in the parlance of the trade.

"There are also black and chinchilla cats," said the dealer. "These blue ones are the rarest, but the white cats seem to be the greatest favorites. Some people maintain that only the white cats are the pure breed, but that is not so, as quite frequently white cats will have different colored kittens."

"What is the most valuable cat you have?"

"The large white Tom is the most expensive; he is worth $50. The other cats are worth from $40 to $50. The kittens are worth $20 for the males and $15 for the females."

The dealer then explained the difference between the Angora and the Persian cats, which is very slight, the Persians having a longer face and larger ears. The animals are very delicate and require great care in raising, colds being the chief enemies of the feline kind. Each cat must have a hair cushion and be washed regularly and rubbed with cocoanut oil. Birds and scraped beef are found to be the best food for them. A few cats are imported from England, but most of them are raised by a man in Maine.

HOW JAY-EYE-SEE EATS SUGAR.

A Talk With Mr. Case in Regard to the Habits of His Fast Horse.

Chicago Herald.

Yesterday Jay-Eye-See, the little black gelding, appeared on the track, and with Ed. Bithers behind him had a nice little exercise jog. Only a few recognized the little wonder when he made his appearance; still, he was greeted with a certain amount of applause and he started off on his journey with a shake of the head, as if he meant to say: "Well, I am not much to look at, but I am an awfully good one to go," and away he sped accomplishing his journey in thorough-bred style. In a conversation with Mr. Case last night, that gentleman said: "I do hope the little horse will win in his bout with St. Julien, and I think he will. I have been asked to let him trot against Johnston for $20,000, I but I do not feel inclined to do so, as I think he has trotted enough this season. I am not afraid of Johnston or any other horse, but I wish to give the little fellow a rest.

"Did you ask if he was a pet of the family? Well, I should remark he was. My wife and three daughters pet him and feed him with sugar, as if he was a baby, and he is just the most intelligent horse you ever saw. What will I take for him? Well, I would take nothing for him, and don't you forget it. Money cannot buy the little black horse, and when you see him come in ahead in the next race just hold me to that sporting bit."

THE COUNTY JAIL COMPLETELY CONSUMED.

Vague Railroad Rumors, Important if True—Exciting Scene in the Sharon-Hill Case—British Columbia News.

SEATTLE, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Fire broke out at midnight in the malt room of Slorah's brewery, on Mill street, and in a few minutes the malt house was totally destroyed. The flames then spread to the county jail, and owing to a difficulty in obtaining water the building became a total loss. It is apprehended now that the court house will catch. Slorah's loss is $2000; insured. The jail cost $18,000, on which there is said to be no insurance. The fire is still raging. The prisoners were rescued.

LATER.—The fire is under control, and the court house is considered safe.

CALIFORNIA.

Exciting Scene in the Sharon-Hill Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—In the Sharon-Hill case to-day Miss Hill absolutely refused to give up possession of the alleged marriage contract, until informed by the judge that unless she did it would be ruled out of evidence, and be considered as so much waste paper. Her counsel, Mr. Tyler, endeavored to persuade her that she need have no fears, and that it would remain in the custody of the court.

Miss Hill—"Mr. Sharon knows all about it."

Mr. Sharon—"I tell the court that it is the d—dest lie that ever was uttered."

Miss Hill—"As your honor orders it, I will deliver it, and hold you, judge, responsible for my document."

The paper was then delivered, but the judge declined to assume any responsibility, stating that he would have it delivered into court in the ordinary way. In order to identify it the judge put his initials, "J. F. F.," on it. When the document was shown to Sharon he denounced it a forgery in such indignant terms that the judge ordered him removed from the court. An animated scene followed, in which the counsel and all present took part, and terminated only by an order of the court to adjourn. The document will remain in the possession of the clerk of the court until a large photograph of it is taken.

Vague Railroad Rumors—Important if True.

[Special.]—It was reported on change this afternoon that negotiations had been pending for the sale of the San Francisco and North Pacific railroad to a syndicate representing outside capital. The same report also renews a rumor extensively circulated some months ago, of its contemplated extension to Portland, with a branch to Eureka, Humboldt county. It is generally known that the road has been for sale ever since it was bonded to representatives of Villard. While the report is not denied at the office of the company the intention of the present managers of the road to build further north than Ukiah is denied. Several other rumors in addition to the above are all more or less vague, and in fact based on a theory that the demands of commerce create a probability of a continuous coast railroad from Portland to the extreme southern portion of the state, having the southern terminus at San Diego. While these rumors cannot be traced to any reliable source, they have very recently become the subject of street gossip and are given considerable credence.

THE COMING MESSAGE.

President Arthur Preparing to Steal the Democratic Thunder.

Philadelphia Ledger's New York special.

The president is engaged on that part of his message which deals with the internal revenue and tariff, and it is understood at the Union League and other up-town clubs, whose sources of information in such cases are not to be despised, that he is freely availing himself of the counsel of the most judicious financial and mercantile minds on these subjects, and with little or no reference to political or partisan results.

Mr. Arthur has repeatedly said to his most intimate personal friends within the past thirty days that if he has any ambition at all it is an ambition to have his administration go on record as the one that witnessed the relief of the people from the greater part of the burdensome taxation inherited from the war. To that end, therefore, he is willing to go very far in sweeping away the internal tax system, but not so far as some of the ultra protectionist republicans are desirous that he should. He would like to see his way clear to a further judicious reduction of the tariff, if it can be accomplished without prejudice to our domestic industries, and as long as he is of that way of thinking it will require a nice judgment to write such a message as will propitiate the various shades of republicanism in the approaching congress.

The more astute of the republican leaders here are heartily in accord with him in this respect. They are desirous of encouraging the idea that the republican party, as such, is not inimical to tariff reductions when the financial condition of the country will warrant it, and that it would be safer to intrust the work to their hands than to invite sweeping and probably disastrous changes by a democratic administration.

Utter's Article on John Brown.

Of Rev. D. N. Utter's article on John Brown, published in the North American, the Springfield Republican says: Wherever Mr. Utter may earn his trophies, it will not be in the field of history and biography, judging by his North American article. He belongs to that school of historians of which Governor Butler is the great modern instance, which invents its facts and applies them to suit the audience, which spells every historic incident backward that it condescends to mention at all, and is as regardless of dates and sequences as a grasshopper is of dance music. Brown, he says, "expected to precipitate a revolution." Nonsense! He expected to terrify the Missouri ruffians and to encourage the Kansas farmers to defend themselves—and this is exactly what happened. From that day forward the rascals never dared to encounter the free-state men on equal terms; and it was the war of skirmishes in that summer of 1856 which prevented Kansas from becoming a slave state, and joining in the secession five years later. It is hard to say what Mr. Utter means by these words: "What Brown thought he foresaw never came; there was no revolution, and not a slave was freed." Within nine years after the blows struck by Brown on the Pottawatomie, May 24, 1856, every slave of the 5,000,000 in the United States was free, and the greatest revolution since that of France in 1793 had been successfully accomplished. And the loyal instinct of mankind—always wiser than the small conjectures and crooked argumentation of men like Mr. Utter—has ever since recognized Brown as the foremost hero of that revolution. What else is the meaning of the "John Brown Song" which broke forth, nobody knows how, from a thousand camps, in 1861, and became the choral hymn and marching song for a million soldiers of liberty?

The negroes in Virginia are talking of a state civil rights law. That is the true way to get it. The constitution doesn't stand in the state's way of guaranteeing to its citizens all their rights. On the contrary, it expressly reserves that right to the states.

The Hereditary Blood Poison of Scrofula develops in the delicate tissues of the brain mental weakness and infirmities, idiocy and insanity. It enlarges the glands of the throat, impairs the sense of smell and taste, or breaks into consuming ulcers on the neck. It destroys the lungs, or fills them with tuberculous secretions. It eats away the coating of the stomach, enlarges the liver, clogs the kidneys, creates constipation, and induces piles. The muscles it contracts and renders powerless with rheumatism, while the secretions of the joints contaminated by it cause the painful gout. It loads the perspiration with its virulent poison, setting on fire in its passage the little tubes or pores of the skin, causing the torturing disfiguration, salt rheum, psoriasis, and other itching and scaly diseases which embitter life. It gathers at "morbid centers into tumors, abscesses, and life-sapping ulcers. It slowly undermines the constitution, and is the cause of nearly all chronic diseases.

GRANT AND PORTER.

The extract from General Grant's letter to Fitz John Porter displays more zeal than discretion. Senator Logan did not hesitate to say last winter that Grant was the paid attorney of Porter to lobby his claim through congress, and this letter, asserting that as long as he has a voice, it shall be raised in Porter's support, and expressing the hope that Porter will "be vindicated, not only by congress, but in the minds of his countrymen," will revive the criticisms which Grant's article in the North American Review, and subsequent appearance as a lobbyist at Washington, at the time provoked. The most that Porter can possibly hope for is a partisan vindication, and that is possible, for it will be in the power of this congress to pass his relief bill, if the senate votes as it did last winter. His military fame, however, will never be fully and clearly vindicated. He was essentially a McClellan man, and whether he actually disobeyed Pope's orders because he did not wish to have a battle won by the rival of his chief or not, it is certain that his ideas of war did not rise above those of McClellan. What those were the country has understood very well for many years; but never until recently has it had a distinct avowal of them from the man himself.

The ninth volume of the official records of the war, just published, contains a letter from McClellan to Burnside in the spring of 1862, which reveals very clearly his character. The letter was written from the headquarters of the army at Tunstall station, May 21, 1862. In it he says: "I feel very proud of Yorktown; it and Manassas will be my brightest chaplets in history; for I know I accomplished everything in both places by pure military skill. I am very proud and grateful to God that he allowed me to purchase such great success at so trifling a loss of life. We came near being badly beaten at Williamsburg. I arrived on the field at 5 P. M. and found all thought we were whipped and in for a disaster. You would have been glad to see, old fellow, how the men cheered and brightened up when they saw me. In five minutes after I reached the ground a possible defeat was changed into a certain victory. I expected to fight a desperate battle in front of Richmond, and against superior numbers somewhat intrenched. The government have deliberately placed me in this position: If I win, the greater the glory. If I lose they will be damned forever, both by God and man. The crisis cannot be long deferred. I pray for God's blessing on our arms, and rely far more on His goodness than I do on my own poor intellect. I sometimes think now that I can almost realize that Mohammed was sincere. When I see the hand of God guarding one so weak as myself, I can almost think myself a chosen instrument to carry out His schemes. Would that a better man had been selected."

"The pure military skill" exhibited at Manassas and Yorktown is as well understood as anything relating to the war. It was the kind of skill that won Porter's admiration and caused him to write that remarkable letter to McClellan while Pope was urging him to fight the enemy. The "brightest chaplets in history" seem to have been appreciated by the party which declared the war a failure as well as by the men fighting on the other side. At Manassas McClellan permitted General Joe Johnston with 50,000 men to hold him back all winter, though he had under his command a well-appointed army of 150,000, and finally, when at last he yielded to the peremptory orders of the president to advance he allowed the enemy to retire unhurt in his own time and way behind the Rappahannock. At Yorktown he permitted General Magruder with 15,000 to keep him and his army of 50,000 back for a month while calling for reinforcements and getting siege trains up which were never used. When the enemy had remained at Yorktown as long as suited their purpose, they retired up the peninsular to the utter surprise of the sweetly innocent and pious commander of the Union army. It was through his sympathy with McClellan and personal loyalty to him, that Porter brought disgrace upon himself. That General Grant should take such an absorbing interest in such an officer is a matter of great surprise to soldiers who do not regard Manassas and Yorktown as "the brightest chapters" in the history of the war.

LANDS FOR THE LANDLESS.

The annual report of the commissioner of public lands, an abstract of which has appeared in THE OREGONIAN, shows that a large amount of land has been disposed of during the past year. As it becomes more scarce and valuable, speculators are seizing upon it in large tracts to hold for an advance. The commissioner recommends the amendment of the pre-emption, homestead and desert land laws to prevent their abuse by speculators. How it is practicable to do this, and at the same time allow the actual settler to obtain lands under these laws, is a difficult problem; but the requirement proposed, of two years' residence on a homestead, is as little as could be asked, considering the small amount of valuable land that is left for settlement. Concerning the timber lands of Oregon and Washington, to which attention has recently been widely called, the commissioner says: "Information is in my possession that much of the most valuable timber land remaining in the possession of the government on the Pacific coast is being taken up by home and foreign capitalists, through the medium of entries made by persons hired for that purpose. I have found it necessary to suspend all entries of this class and to direct an investigation. The commissioner is of the opinion that timber lands should be reserved by law from ordinary disposal and sold only after appraisement and upon settled bids." The order suspending entries upon these lands was not issued a moment too soon. The price received by the government is so small compared to the value of the land that the government might almost as well give it away. It is now of great value and its perspective value is much greater. The timber on this coast ought not to fall into the hands of a monopoly. Every person in the country is more or less interested in it. If it is all grasped by speculators or monopolies the high price of lumber will prevent settlers from coming here to occupy other lands or engage in business in towns and cities.

The exchange of land for the preferred stock of the company by the Northern Pacific railroad also might be stopped. It is bad policy for the road, as well as for the people. One man in the Chehalis valley now owns 30,000 acres of the best land in the Puget Sound country, obtained from the road in exchange for preferred stock. The holding of that body of land for a rise may result in keeping several thousand families from settling there and supplying the road with a large amount of profitable traffic. This is all so plain as to need no argument, and we hope the railroad company will be able to change this policy. What the railroad needs is business to enable it to earn dividends. This business can be increased only by the settlement of the country and the building up of prosperous communities along the line. It has been satisfactorily established that the great American desert of our childhood was a myth, but it is nevertheless possible to create desert places by blighting monopolies of land and we trust that the railroad company will as far as possible co-operate with the government in an endeavor to prevent such a public calamity. "Lands for the landless" was a very captivating party cry when first adopted by the republicans. It is destined to be still more effective as a campaign issue.

Poker, says that eminent Kentucky authority the Courier-Journal, may be a game of chance, as a Missouri judge has just decided, but the chance is an excessively small one for the average man.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

In the decision of the supreme court deciding the civil rights bill unconstitutional it was said: "Until some state law has been passed or some state action through its officers or agents has been taken adverse to the rights of citizens sought to be protected by the fourteenth amendment, no legislation of the United States under said amendment, or any proceeding under such legislation, can be called into activity; for the prohibitions of the amendment are against state laws and acts done under state authority." It is plain that the constitution prohibits the states from passing laws discriminating against any class of citizens, and this decision says, in effect, that if such laws should be passed the court would declare them unconstitutional and void. This is a government of the people and by the people. "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

A few democratic papers have been foolish enough to boast over the decision as a triumph of state rights. But generally the southern press has taken a wise and progressive course, promising, as the Macon Telegraph says, that "the negro shall receive ample justice from the whites of the south, and to whatever point in the scale of humanity he is capable of advancing, he will be allowed to struggle up unhindered." Self interest if nothing more should incline the south to redeem this promise. The labor of colored people is indispensable to their prosperity. The Charleston News and Courier recognizes the fact and says "it will be a happy event for South Carolina if the white people shall seize the golden opportunity and bind the whites and blacks together in the bonds of a common interest in the honor, the peace and the prosperity of the state. By liberality, tempered with wisdom, the color line in politics can be obliterated in the south. Desirable as this is elsewhere, it is more desirable in South Carolina, where the most sagacious have been unable to find means of security far in the future. The means appear to be given us now of ending our troubles and making the state safe for a generation to come."

WORKING GIRLS.

Among the charitable people of Portland there is no lack of sympathy for young men without homes, and even for those who, having homes, wantonly wander from them; and there is no lack of kindly effort in their behalf. The Young Men's Christian Association is not the only agency whose object is the reclamation and salvation of young men. Many Christian people open their homes, even to strangers, and any young man, whatever his fortune or condition, may, if he chooses, find in Portland a cordial welcome amid congenial and moral surroundings. But not so the young woman who comes to our city a stranger. The dressmakers' shops, the millinery shops, the book-binderies and other places where girls work, are full of young women, many of whom "nobody knows." We are unable to learn that any effort is made by anybody to surround these girls with right influences or to help them on in their hard struggle with the world. There is no young women's Christian association, and the Christian homes which open their doors in wide welcome to young men are closed against young women. The temptations which surround an unprotected working girl in Portland are most trying. The associations of such a girl, if she came here a stranger and without friends, are of necessity demoralizing. Her work is hard and monotonous, and worse still, hopeless in its lack of promise; and its pay is but a few dollars per week, barely enough to keep soul and body together. There are in this city, we are told, girls who manage to live upon six or seven dollars per week. Is it remarkable that some of them go to the bad? It is, rather, remarkable that all of them do not. They prove their virtue by their daily hard work, and it ought to give them social credit, just as industry gives opportunities to young men. The allurements which tempt young men are trifles compared with those which appeal to young women. Christian associations should surround them, too, with their protection and care. And Christians who desire to "rescue the perishing" should open their cheerful houses to young women as well as young men without homes.

The tidal wave governors of last year do not seem to have answered public expectation. We have already shown how Governor Butler has used his office to advance his presidential schemes, by winning the favor of people who hate Massachusetts. Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania has made many blunders. It was said of Franklin Pierce when he was nominated for president that he would do very well for New Hampshire, but when spread over the country he became very thin. Mr. Pattison made his mark in the city of Philadelphia, but has shown no capacity to cover well a larger area. The same may be said of Governor Waller of Connecticut, and Governor Cleveland, also, who as mayor of Buffalo gained great distinction, but has added nothing to his real fame in a larger field. Governor Butler was the only one running for re-election, but he failed, and there is not much doubt that the others would have shared the same fate. Neither of them, surely, could have increased his vote as Butler did.

A Chicago paper suggests that among the first acts of the coming congress should be the passage of a law to confer the title of general upon Sheridan; and if that should be done, it proposes Schofield as successor to Sheridan's present rank of lieutenant-general. The rank of general was created by congress for Grant, and when he became president the same rank was conferred upon Sherman. There would be no special objection to extending it to Sheridan, if it were understood that it would stop there. To recognize it as a step in the regular grade of promotions would deprive it of significance and detract from the honor intended to be conferred upon its first possessor. If there should be another war, and any general should particularly distinguish himself, a new office would have to be created. General Sheridan now has a special rank, which is more distinguished than the rank to which he aspires would be if it should become open to all his successors.

William M. Gwin is "a relic of the past," probably. He is seventy-eight years old. He held office under Andrew Jackson, and was in the United States senate away back in the fifties. But still he knows something about "the boys." He says it's no use for the democrats to try to elect a president without money. "We must nominate a man who can control the money power, or we are beaten," says the practical old duke. He has always been a warm admirer of Tilden, but in the previous campaign he did not realize so fully the value of money as a political factor on the Pacific coast. If the old ticket should be again in the field people would know what it meant, and could, if they chose, govern themselves accordingly.

Washington is becoming more and more each year the capital city. It is the favorite winter residence of many people of means, and the residence also of many literary people of prominence—George Bancroft, the historian Adams, Mrs. Burnett and others. It is already a center of science. The Smithsonian institute and different departments of the government, the army and navy all employ a large number of the most learned men in the country. Mr. Blaine has rented his new house for $11,000 a year to Mr. Leiter, a retired dry goods merchant. As an illustration of the great appreciation of city property, it is mentioned that Judge Aldis of Vermont has sold a house to General Sheridan for $42,000 that cost him only $12,000 a few years ago.

Mrs. Belva Lockwood addressed a letter to Chief Justice Coleridge, a few days before he started for home, asking him to use his influence to pave the way for the admission of women to the bar in England. Lord Coleridge, in reply has promised to make known the main parts of her communication in his own country. Mrs. Lockwood ought to have mentioned, as an inducement for ladies to enter the legal profession, that in this country they have precisely the same right as men have to be suspended from practice before the interior department for illegal acts and swindling disabled soldiers and the widows of brave men who fell in their country's service.

Mr. Ferdinand Schumacker, the prohibition candidate for governor in Ohio, has said that at the late election in that state the republicans were punished in the loss of prohibition votes because they were "indifferent" to the prohibition cause, "and passed and advocated a tax bill to which we [they] were not friendly." Yet, the republicans had secured the submission to the popular vote of a prohibition amendment to the constitution, together with one providing for a license law, thus affording the fullest possible opportunity for a fair test of public sentiment!

The Washington Capital thinks that ex-Governor Stewart of Vermont will be one of the strongest men on the republican side next congress. He has the physical and mental make-up of Garfield, and is perhaps the most eloquent man in Vermont. We named him among the strong men on the republican side in an article on the forty-eighth congress a few days ago. Though he has never been in congress, he is more thoroughly equipped for congressional service than any new man who has entered either house for many years.

The foolish manner in which some of the Bourbon newspapers of the south seek to keep alive sectional feeling has just been illustrated in the Richmond State. That journal made the visit to the south of Henry Ward Beecher the occasion of a violent attack on that gentleman because of his early abolition and ultra-loyal sentiments. If the southern people were wise they would sternly rebuke all such pitiable manifestations, which are as asinine as they are unpatriotic.

Since the November elections they say "the old ticket" won't do. Reason—It has been punched.

NOT THE SAME CRANK.—THE OREGONIAN was slightly in error yesterday when it stated that King the crank reformer had escaped from the insane asylum One E M Hamlin who somewhat resembles King and who was some time since after a somewhat exciting experience in various courts in this city adjudged insane and sent to the asylum was the man who called to have a grievance published" One of the staff who had met both parties frequently in their troubles with the authorities got them slightly mixed in his mind and mistook Hamlin for King. Hamlin insisted that he was not King but the reporter assured him that he was and finally succeeded in making him believe that he was and he pocketed his grievance and went off subdued if not satisfied. On thinking the matter over afterward the reporter succeeded in unraveling the tangled skein of his memory and is now satisfied that Hamlin is himself and not King, at all and is willing to apologise to both parties

SIXTY YEARS IN OREGON

The Discussion of the Oldest Settler Question Probably Settled for Good

SALEM Nov 8

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

There has been considerable controversy recently as to who is the pioneer resident of Oregon I think that Marion county has the honor of having the oldest settler in the state if not on the Pacific coast in the person of Mr John B Gobar, who resides near Brooks station about six miles north of Salem Mr Gobar was born in Montreal Canada in 1805 and at the age of 18 enlisted in the service of the Hudson Bay Company arriving in Oregon in the fall of 1823 He was stationed several years at Astoria (then called Fort George) engaged in the various duties of a frontier trading post. Afterwards for a short time he was in the company's employ at Spokane House a post near Spokane Falls W T With that exception he has resided in Oregon over sixty years He has been a resident of Marion county almost half a century Hon B F Harding informs me that he saw the old gentleman a few days ago at his farm and says that he is hale and hearty for one of his age and bids fair to continue for some time to be the pioneer of this coast A L BUCKINGHAM

National American prohibition organ

Some of the democratic papers are showing that the democrats of Ohio are opposed to prohibition This is easily done but in a very few years they will swear that it has been a cardinal principle of democracy since the days of Jefferson to prohibit everything that is not consistent with the public welfare It is a peculiarity of the democratic party that after it has been kicked on the right side of a question it vows that it always was thar

BEECHER ON TEMPERANCE

He Discusses the Laws Governing the Sale of Liquors.

N Y World, Oct 29

Mr Beecher last evening preached on the temperance question and drew to Plymouth church an immense number of people many hundreds of whom were unable to get within the doors The text was from John iv 15

"I am to speak to night" said Mr Beecher "of temperance and intemperance and I have selected this text because as this is a question of temperance the drawing of water is appropriate to the whole subject"

After speaking of the universality of the craving for stimulant both among savage and civilized communities Mr Beecher said "The more brain men have the more brain work they have to do the more they are apt to be addicted to some sort of stimulant and only now and then will you find a man absolutely simple in his habits drinking water and eating bread and meat or vegetables I will say this, that Brooklyn as compared to New York is as if every fellow here had taken the pledge and kept it and how stringent that statement is will appear when I shall come to show you what Brooklyn is"

He then spoke of the great advance which the country had made in habits of temperance said he "the advent of the first reformed drunkard movement which began in Baltimore Before that" he said "there was wine on every sideboard and not to invite a guest to drink was an indication of stinginess or of discourtesy But now" he continued "nobody thinks of asking a minister to drink and the phrase 'What will you take?' is banished to the hotel or the bar room

"Take the whole of society however and there is a gain immeasurable The moral effort is the ground on which all other efforts are based It is the reservoir to supply all labor It is the conviction of the individual judgment his moral sense and his will enlightened and directed You have got to have the consent of mankind or you can not coerce them To attempt to do by law what you cannot consent to do by the moral sense is to attempt to carry on manufacturing without any water in the water wheel"

SYSTEMS FOR SUPPRESSION

Mr Beecher said that there were three systems for the suppression of the evils of intemperance First the system of moral education a public sentiment that will easily control the methods of intemperance second the system of limitation of the supply and third the system of prohibition The latter was two fold First it was prohibition of the sale and second prohibition of the manufacture and in order to make that inevitable it is proposed to insert a prohibitory clause into the constitutions of the state and nation

"In some communities local option is possible" he said "but local option would be blown sky high in Brooklyn or New York Not sky high but in the other direction Next to that is the license system as it exists in such a city as this There is a great deal of dissatisfaction with the chief magistrate and with the excise commissioners and with the police and I am not here to say that they have done all that they could have done but I am here to say that this sweeping condemnation is unjust the unlicensed places are not suppressed the Sunday law is notoriously not enforced the selling to children is almost as if there was no law forbidding it I have here some statements given to me by my brother the Rev Mr Styles"

STATISTICS IN BROOKLYN

He then read some statistics showing that there was in the city one saloon for every 250 men women and children of the population and that the Sixteenth ward was full of grog shops But then on the other side he said there was something to be said In 1874 there were 3000 licensed saloons in 1878 3008, and in 1882 2758 showing a gain under Mayor Low's administration for the nine months of 1883 There had been 2659 applications for licenses 273 of which had been refused

He then alluded to the decision of the supreme court that it was not enough to hear a man call for brandy and see him served with what looked and smelled like brandy but a man must taste it out of the same glass in order to bear legal testimony against the dealer and said "How can we collect evidence? The grand jury will not find indictments and you can't get a petit jury in Brooklyn to convict It all comes to this" continued Mr Beecher "that public sentiment won't maintain the law and you cannot throw it off on the mayor you cannot throw it off on the commissioners If the common people won't condemn a man for selling liquor you cannot get a conviction you must have the moral sentiment of the community The mayor cannot do everything It is the man that wants to be mayor that can do everything, not the man that is in"

THE PROHIBITORY LAW

The prohibitory law in Maine was next spoken of but said he "If you suppose that there is no liquor drank in Maine you will make a mistake As to Kansas I have just come from there and I was told that the sale of liquor had increased since they stopped licensing saloons Iowa has passed a constitutional amendment and we should have to wait to see what fruit that tree produces Ohio has made a great effort in favor of prohibition and has turned the state over to the democratic party It is a good party made of very noble men but I have never heard that it was a temperance party Massachusetts is a temperance state and she is going to elect Benjamin F Butler as her governor I told them at the south that Butler was going to be the democratic nominee for the presidency and that I was going to get leave of absence from my church and come down and see them vote for him so that I can eat crow You might as well put a provision into the constitution against total depravity as against the manufacture and sale of liquor. It is the sense of a community behind a law and it will stand Otherwise it will not It is for you and for me to cease blaming others and go to work ourselves

NORTHERN PACIFIC MATTERS

A Muddle Over the Resignation of General Haupt.

HE MODIFIES HIS STATEMENT.

Vice-President Oakes Takes Up the Charges Made in the Haupt Interview, One by One, and Denies Them All.

St. Paul and Minneapolis papers of the 3d have a great deal of matter relative to the resignation of General Haupt and his statement of the causes of his action. His statement as to the condition of the road, when it was turned over to the operating department, has been a source of much comment at the east, as in it charges were made which, if true, would seriously affect the value of Northern Pacific property. General Haupt, taking notice of the statement accredited to him, sent the following to the St. Paul Pioneer-Press:

I desire to correct some of the statements of your reporter in reference to an interview with me at my house last evening. The interview was brief, no notes taken, a few questions asked and answered; and after leaving the house the reporter evidently drew upon his imagination largely for the highly colored and sensational article that appeared in print. I did not state that the results of the operation of the road were sure to be disastrous, or that the construction department had turned over the road at the earliest possible moment to secure the land grant; that no ditching was done, side tracks wanting, and curves dangerous, etc. I will repeat substantially what I did say, which was that orders had been issued to close construction account, and make no improvements except such as could be paid for from the earnings of the road; that when new portions of the road were turned over for operation much remained to be done in the way of shops, turntables, water and fuel stations, side tracks, and especially in ballasting and surfacing; and that as the road had been extended over hundreds of miles of new territory, for the present comparatively unproductive, it could not be expected that there should be an immediate increase of receipts sufficient to compensate for increased expenses, and at the same time leave a surplus for completing road, bridges and buildings. Consequently, the management must be embarrassed. I will say, in conclusion, that in an experience of over forty years I have never seen a new road, with the possible exception of the Pennsylvania railroad, in as good condition when opened as the Northern Pacific. I have always felt enthusiastic over the future of this line, which cannot fail to be much more remunerative to investors than any other transcontinental line. The chief trouble now arises from the fact that capitalists have expected impossibilities and have looked for immediate returns before the country could be settled or developed; but they will be sure to come, and will come soon.

In addition to the above, says the Pioneer-Press, General Haupt stated that the point to which he most took exception was the manner in which the management had been crippled by the restrictions placed upon it by order of the board of directors. He said these were very embarrassing, and, under the circumstances, he preferred withdrawing from the road altogether, as he was certain that he could not, under the circumstances, do justice to himself and those interested in the road. He also repeated his assertion that the stock and bondholders of the company were anxious for and expected immediate returns from a railroad that traversed a country thinly populated. This, he said, everyone knew was an impossibility, as population was necessary before traffic could be had. In connection with this point he also said that it was absolute nonsense to expect that the running of a new line through an uncultivated region would not add greatly to the expense of maintaining the road. He further said that he particularly avoided saying anything that would depreciate the value of the property, as he was naturally interested in the prosperity of the road, and had always, and does still, look upon it as the coming transcontinental road of the continent. He closed by saying that the organization as it was now completed was very effective, and as perfect harmony existed between the heads of the various departments, the result could not be otherwise than satisfactory.

The agent of the associated press insists, however, that General Haupt was correctly reported. Vice President Oakes, on the part of the company, expressed himself satisfied with the denial made by Mr. Haupt, but when questioned as to the truth of the charges, irrespective of the source from which they sprung, the vice-president, taking them up seriatim, said:

That he most emphatically denied them, and that they had been made without any foundation whatever, adding that the best evidence of this was the fact that all trains are running upon time, excepting where delays occur which are occasioned by accidents that are not due in any manner to the physical condition of the road. Accidents always occur, he said, no matter how well a road may be equipped, nor how well built. That the road was not in bad shape was plainly evident, from the fact that $1,300,000 had been spent upon it under the late general manager's supervision. The road has been properly ditched or if it had not it would not have been accepted as being in first-class order by the inspecting commission sent out by the national government. Being in first-class order means that embankments are of the regulation width, fourteen feet, the ditches plentiful, the rails of steel; there are no less than 2640 ties to the mile, in addition to many other requirements with respect to construction, by which the company has been forced to construct a railroad much better than the average western roads. Experts who examined the road during the Villard excursion, and previous and since then, all say that it is too well built, and if any fault is to be found, it is in the fact that too much money has been spent upon the construction. The cuts are all of the width required by the government officials, and the curves are not short, nor are they dangerous. The maximum curvature is twelve degrees, and such curves are infrequent and are only made at points where the mountain work made them necessary. Most of the curvatures, however, do not exceed seven degrees. That the water supply is sufficient is evident from the fact that the earnings during the month of October will easily foot $1,300,000 or $1,400,000. Nearly one-half of this has been from through traffic, thus necessarily passing over the entire newly constructed portions of the line. If the water tanks should require to be increased in number, they will be provided as from time to time they may be required. The reductions made in other departments of the road have no effect whatever upon the water tanks. What stations may also prove necessary for the proper running of trains will also be added as required. The closing of the shops at Brainerd, he said, was not a significant fact. The company had 777 men employed there. These men were necessary not only for the successful operation of the road, but to meet the very large demands of the construction department. The construction work is now practically over, and it is no longer necessary for such a force. Reductions have been made, but they were made under the direction of the superintendent of machinery. They are not intended to be permanent, but are simply made in accordance with the policy of the company, which every October reduces its department down to what is known as the winter force. Next spring they will again be increased. Over 200 men remain in the Brainerd shops, and the company apprehends no difficulty in doing the ordinary repairs of the machinery and rolling stock and these men, in fact, do a good share of all the repairs necessary upon the whole line. At all events, the company now has over 360 new locomotives, that will require little or no repairing for some time to come. The reductions, Mr. Oakes in conclusion said, will have no effect whatever upon the operations of the road.

RETRENCHMENT CONTINUING.

Reductions are continuing to be made in the various departments of the road, both as regards force and salary. These, however, are made necessary by the consolidation of the two divisions of the road. Heretofore the two ends of the road have been operated as two separate and distinctive corporations, and the natural consequence is, when they are brought together under one management, radical reductions are necessary. By the consolidation the land department alone saves upward of $15,000. The officials give this as the number of men employed, and say it is not occasioned by the want of money. A well-posted official, says the Pioneer-Press, stated yesterday that such a position will shortly be made necessary, as the managers of the Northern Pacific, the Oregon Railway and Navigation, the Oregon Transcontinental and other companies directly connected with the Northern Pacific are continuously treading on each other's toes. A change was announced yesterday in the refrigerator car line of the company. C. W. Sleeper, general agent, has resigned and it is thought likely that the refrigerator cars will be placed under the supervision of the general freight department.

THE FEELING IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—At the Northern Pacific offices to-day it was stated that the resignation of General Manager Haupt had not been entirely unexpected. The reason he sets forth in his statement is his opposition to the policy of retrenchment decided upon. No successor will be appointed at present; perhaps not until the spring business opens. Vice President Oakes thinks he can operate the road for 50 per cent. of the gross earnings, instead of 63 per cent. as under Mr. Haupt's management. He will personally assume the duties of manager, in addition to those of vice president in order to more fully carry out his ideas. He will not remain in St. Paul, but the discretionary powers of the assistant managers at St. Paul and Portland will be somewhat increased. Among the brokers who are interested in the Villard properties the removal, as it was understood to be, of Mr. Haupt was generally well received. The change is but part of Mr. Oakes' plan of economy. He is regarded as a good manager, and his policy of retrenchment is commended. The only fault found with Mr. Haupt is extravagance. If the road's earnings are built up to $15,000,000 a year, as promised, the value of profit promised will insure good dividends and prosperity. President Villard, it is authoritatively stated, said to-day that the Northern Pacific stocks would sell at twice their present price at no distant day.

THE RECENT MAIL CONTRACT.

As an indication of the importance of the contract secured from the government for the carriage of the mails for the far northwest and British Columbia, it is to-day estimated that the earnings of the Union Pacific road alone will be decreased $200,000 per annum thereby. The mails from the territory east of the Mississippi will be diverted to the Northern Pacific road at St. Paul, instead of only a small part of them reaching it via Butte. Since the opening of the through line a large number of New York wholesale houses have sent their traveling men over the road toward Oregon and report a good business coming from there, although they meet sharp competition from Chicago drummers. The opening up of Oregon and Washington territory to the eastern trade, they say, will revolutionize the business of that country and will be a severe blow to San Francisco, hitherto its principal depot of supplies. Very many houses are preparing to send representatives out before the opening of spring trade.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

THURSDAY, Nov. 8.

The week has not been an active one, yet enough has been doing to prevent it being a dull or even quiet one. The wheat market has been very active and a no small advance is established. The freight movement has been fair, with overland shipments and receipts quite free. Stocks have shown little of interest and have hovered close around last week's quotations. The interest in this direction has fallen off considerably.

Overland receipts include 500 hf candles, 2 cs figs, 50 cs can meat, 8 cs extracts, 125 cs milk, 2 bbls baking powder, 30 cs can goods, 10 cs eggs, 10 bbls cranberries, 136 pkgs tobacco.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—The past 24 hours have been 6537 ctls wheat, 408 bbls flour, 192 ctls oats, 54 ctls millstuff, 2 sks potatoes, 50 lbs wool, 245 lbs hides, 17 cs eggs, 180 bxs fruit, 6 pkgs butter from the valley and 17,461 ctls wheat, 1879 bbls flour, 10 sks potatoes, 405 lbs wool, 5275 lbs hides, 3 bxs fruit, 742 lbs hops, from the eastern section.

Receipts for past seven days have been 143,512 ctls wheat, 12,069 bbls flour, 3347 ctls oats, 941 ctls bran, 909 ctls millstuff, 979 sks potatoes, 69,593 lbs wool, 26,399 lbs hides, 153,649 lbs hops, 1805 sks flax seed, 400 bbls lime. For a like time last year they were 100,594 ctls wheat, 16,161 bbls flour, 2737 ctls oats, 2886 ctls bran, 2083 ctls millstuff, 240 ctls barley, 343 sks potatoes, 35,916 lbs wool, 23,922 lbs hides, 61,420 lbs hops, 1528 sks flax seed, 1005 bbls lime.

Receipts by leading lines of transportation since Aug. 1, as compared with a like time last year, have been:

	1884	1882.
Wheat, ctls	1,360,080	1,156,506
Flour, bbls	102,161	130,814
Oats, ctls	33,145	41,189
Potatoes, sks	5,452	4,919
Bran, ctls	10,908	18,234
Millstuff, ctls	11,642	10,369
Wool, lbs	1,888,858	1,824,290
Hides, lbs	340,698	428,650
Hops, lbs	612,686	584,777
Flaxseed, sks	2,918	53,872

FREIGHTS—No arrivals for the week, but three vessels are outside. One is the iron bark Star of Erin which has outward charter. One vessel en route has lost a good charter by expiration of arrival date and others are in a fair way to duplicate her experience. The only spot charter for a week is the wooden ship Imperial at 40s to United Kingdom, and since this closing the market is considered a trifle better. Business must be confined to the occasional picking up of a vessel, as exporters do not care to charter without a cargo being provided; still, some business would be possible were it not that owners have raised their views. Of the disengaged tonnage in port, 1180 tons only is iron, while of that under charter 4563 is wood.

WHEAT—The week has been an active one and several large transactions have been reported. Keen competition, brought about by the needs of some shippers and a slight advance abroad, has ruled for several days. The interior has not received the full benefit of this, as large parcels were wanted and those in need had to apply to holders here. Purchases of round lots on wharf have been made at $1 65@1 70 for eastern and valley, and free on board sales are said to show even an advance. For ordinary sized lots we believe these figures could even now be had, although open bids for eastern are $1 62½. The present movement is regarded by many to be only temporary, and it is claimed that as soon as shippers have secured against this month's expected arrivals late sales cannot be duplicated. Much, however, depends upon the foreign market, and again it is a difficult matter to force prices down here, even in the face of a decline abroad. Operators who can not readily turn over their purchases are cautioned against indiscriminate buying at full prices, for, while there are many that look for a further advance, the future is not certain. It is known that by far the larger part of the fleet to arrive comes under charter and must be provided for. To meet this shippers have three months to work in, several vessels being for January arrival. Receipts of wheat since the beginning of the season have been 202,174 ctls in excess of last year, while clearances to date are only 15,610 ctls more than for the same time last year. The domestic movement is less than one-half that of last year. It will thus be seen that there should now be more wheat in warehouse here than there was last season, the number of vessels loading being about the same. Foreign markets to-day are less active, yet firm. The quantity afloat is now 2,245,000 qrs against 2,415,000 qrs last week.

FLOUR—Market firm at $5 25 for standard brands, less usual trade discount. Export movement confined to two loading ships. Shipments to San Francisco have been free.

OATS—Not quite so firm. Offerings of territory are large and 180 tons are looked for to-night. These will be thrown upon the local market and as they were bought at 54@55c will depress prices for other kinds. We quote good to choice feed weak at 58@60c.

MILLSTUFF—Receipts only fair and values are firm. Quote jobbing prices: bran, $20@24; chop, $29@32; middlings, $30@35. Ground barley in good request at $27@30.

HOPS—Shipments have included a large lot from Puyallup for London as well as considerable for the east. Our market is in light business but is soon expected to show up better. Buyers offer 17@18c, while holders ask 20c and upward. Nearly everything received here goes into warehouse. Private advices report a firm market in London, steady at New York, with Pacific coast quoted at 25c, and at Waterville a good business with 24c offered for Oregon and Washington.

WOOL—Nothing doing outside of a few sales mixed and inferior at 15@16½c. Buyers refuse to pay more than 17c for good, which is below views of sellers.

POTATOES—Good to choice sell at 80c, while inferior are neglected.

PROVISIONS—Local packers are putting up some, but low prices for hogs fail to secure many. Oregon cuts in light stock. Quote choice Oregon hams, 15@16c; best eastern, 19@21c; bacon, 13@14c, eastern lard, in pails, 12@13½c; Oregon tins, 14@15c; shoulders, 12@13c.

FRUIT—Choice sells quite readily at $1@1 60 for apples, and $1 50@1 75 for pears.

DRIED FRUIT—Values firm, with local product in small movement. Quote sun-dried apples, 12½c; Plummer dried apples in boxes, 16c; plums, 16c; Oregon prunes, 13c; German prunes, 10c; raisins, $2 25@2 50 per box, with usual advance for fractions; peaches, 15@17c; pears, 10@12½c; California figs, 9c.

CHEESE—Quote California, 15c; local and eastern, 15@17c.

BUTTER—Quotations irregular and difficult. Fresh roll sells at 40@45c; eastern tub, 40c; California, 30@40c, as to package; common packed, 20@35c.

EGGS—Quote 45@50c, with outside price had to-day.

POULTRY—Choice sell to advantage generally but a wide range is given quotations. Chickens, $3@4 50 for young, $4 50@6 for old; ducks, $6@9; geese, $7@10; turkeys, $15@18.

HIDES AND SKINS—Market dull and not so firm. We quote green hides, 6@7c ¼ lb; dry, 14@14½c — culls, ¼ less; deerskins, summer eastern Oregon, 20@25c; valley, 25@32c; winter, E. O., 18@20c; valley, 20@25c; elk, 14@16c; Indian dressed buckskins, 75c@$1; black bear per skin, $1 50@5; brown, $4@3; mink, dark, 10@60c; dark fisher, $1@4 60; red fox, 50@75c; mountain fox, 10@...; prime dark marten, 75c@$1 50; muskrats, 8c; badger, 10c; raccoon, 10@25c; land otter, $1 50@4; wolf, 50@85c; wolverine, 50c@$1 50; house cat, 10c; wild cat, 10@20c; skunk, 10c; divers, 10c; coyote, 25@50c; dark beaver, $1@1 50.

BEANS—Market continues firm at: Bayos, 4½c; pinks, 4½c; butter, 4½c; small whites 3½c.

BREAD, ETC.—Imports light and local buyers continue to supply a good call. We quote: Ship, 3½c; pilot, 3½@4c; soda crackers, 5½@6½c; other crackers, cakes and biscuits, 8@15c, as to variety.

COAL OIL—Some shading of last rates is being done, and best brands are quoted at 26@27c; ordinary, 23@25c.

COFFEE—We quote: Costa Rica, 14c; Guatemala, good, 12@13; Salvador, 12@13c. All values firm and stocks are kept close.

RICE—A good call is had from Montana and eastern Washington. Quote Island, $5 37½@5 50; China mixed, $4 65@4 75.

SALT—A firm market rules with a good movement. Quote Liverpool fine at $18; $20 and $22 50 as to size of bags. Coarse California in light request at $10 50@12 50.

CANNED GOODS—We quote: Tomatoes, 1½'s $1 50, gallons $3 75@4; green corn, $1 60; pie fruits, 2½'s $1 75, gallons $4 75; table peaches, $2 50@2 75; pie do, $2@2 25; assorted fruits, $2 75.

PICKLES—We quote $1 62½ per keg.

SUGARS—Overland receipts have been only 50 barrels. Market considered rather uncertain. We quote: (A) patent cube, 11c; (A) crushed, 11c; powdered, 11½c; dry granulated, 10½c; ex golden C, 9½c; golden C, 9½c. Quotations are for barrels; halves, ½c advance; boxes, ½@¾c advance; Island kegs, 8¼@9c; D in bbls, 10c.

HAY—Values irregular at $19@23.

CLEARANCES—Br sh Fiery Cross, for Queenstown, with 30,513 ctls wheat valued at $50,639; shipped by Salem Flouring Mills Company.

Br. bk Martaban, for Queenstown, with 22,848 ctls wheat valued at $38,843; shipped by Sibson, Church & Co.

MERCHANDISE MARKETS.

BAGS AND TWINE—Reports from Calcutta of a shortage in the jute crop have stiffened prices on this coast, but the limited business being done in next spring delivery, combined with large stocks now here, prevents much of a rise. The Calcutta crop is stated to be but one-half its usual quantity, and jute is said to have advanced 50 per cent. in consequence. Stocks on this coast are too widely scattered to admit of these influences, if they are correct ones, being made use of at present, and the market shows an advance of ½ per cent. only. We quote grain bags, 22x36 in., Calcutta, spot, 7½@7¾c; wool bags, 3½ lbs, 42c; 3¾ lbs, 45c; 4 lbs, 47½c; fleece twine, 12@14c; sewing twine, 30@35c.

MEAT MARKET.

Following are rates for whole carcasses from slaughterers to dealers:

BEEF—First quality, 4½@4¾ gross, with slight advance for stall fed.

VEAL—Small, 10c; large, 9c.

MUTTON—Wethers, gross, 3½@3c; ewes, 2½c.

LAMB—$1 75@2.

PORK—Packers offer 5¾@6c for dressed, but occasional sales are made in a small way at an advance. Consignments this week were closed out at 6@6½c, and commission men say they cannot now duplicate the outside figure. When sales above this are made they are certainly exceptional, and we cannot afford to quote above what consignments are bringing. A farmer that will dress up a hog in good shape and sell it to a local butcher to be retailed must not take the price then obtained as a market quotation.

Successful Swindling.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Large quantities of United States trade dollars have been imported into Germany for sale at their face value. It is greatly to the glory of the American congress that it has succeeded, not only in swindling the poor people of this country, but the inhabitants of other lands. The United States senate shines particularly in this trade dollar business.

FORTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE OF AN OLD NURSE.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhea, griping in the bowels, and wind-colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price Twenty-five cents a bottle.

PROHIBITION ARGUMENTS.

National American, St. Louis.

Prohibition interferes with personal liberty, says the anti-prohibitionist, because it deprives the moderate drinker, who harms no one by drinking, of social pleasures. It is not true that the moderate drinker harms no one, but if it were, it would be no better argument for the saloon than for the gambling house. There are many gamblers who can afford to lose their money, who harm no one by losing it, and who enjoy gambling as much as the moderate drinker enjoys his drink. Have they a right to object to the closing of gambling houses by law on that account?

PROHIBITION AND ABOLITION.

The abolitionists struck at a system which was wholly evil in itself. Only a fanatic argues that the use of liquor is in itself a sin. It is the abuse of liquor that makes the act evil. Between the offense of owning property in human flesh and the question of the temperate use of liquor a difference ought to be visible even to the naked eye of a prohibitionist.—Boston Advertiser.

The prohibitionists strike at a traffic which is wholly evil in itself. Only a fool asserts that they are trying to prohibit the use of liquor by law. Between the offense of keeping a doggery to make drunkards and criminals and bad citizens of our young men, and paupers of their mothers and wives and children, and the question of the temperate use of liquor, a difference ought to be visible even to the naked eye of a Boston editor.

Prohibition proposes to prohibit the doggery but not the temperate use of liquor.

The fool-killer has been neglecting his duty at the hub.

PERSONAL LIBERTY.

But, above all this, prohibition assails personal rights. It destroys the freedom of choice and reason. For these considerations the democratic party has persistently opposed coercive temperance measures. It holds such measures to be contrary to the democratic theory of government. It is favorable to the cause of temperance. No democrat will gainsay the evil results of a debasing indulgence in ardent spirits. But the cause of temperance, like that of religion, should be promoted by persuasion and example, not by legal inquisitions and penal statutes.—Examiner.

"How does prohibition assail personal rights and destroy the freedom of choice?" What right has the dram seller to choose an occupation which is a curse to the public? What personal rights are assailed when John Chinaman is prohibited from establishing an aristocratic opium den in St. Louis. Does the Examiner mean to say that the rights of the moderate drinkers are assailed by prohibition? Then the rights of the moderate opium eaters are also assailed. If the state of Missouri may close the place where Hop Lee gets his "social pleasure," why may she not close the place where a personal rights advocate gets his, provided both places are a public curse? But what right has the moderate drinker or anybody else to ask the state for his own convenience to tolerate, much less to license, a business which produces eighty per cent. of the crime of the country, and is an enemy of the public welfare? Is there anything in the "democratic theory of government" to hinder the state from prohibiting one person from wronging another? Or to compel the state to license a wrong that the moderate drinker may conveniently make a drunkard, a criminal and a pauper of himself? We have a big brother who used to expound democracy to us, but we never heard of such a theory of democratic government before.

The Episcopal Convention.

Extract from the Pastoral Letter of the Bishops.

The gospel is not a philosophy. The church is not discovered at the end of a line of argument any more than by a telescope or a crucible. Personal power rules in the realm of spiritual things as in institutions and reformations on the earth. Not in airy generalities, reactions from a virtual tritheism, any more than by ancient heresies and half heresies, can the truth of the trinity of God be preached, but only by the clear affirmations in the old symbols, setting before both the mind and the heart of many persons to be loved and adored—the father, the son and the holy ghost. Not by misty conceptions of a mere Messiah of humanity will penitents obtain pardon or peace, or the world, the flesh and the devil be subdued, but only by the cross of Christ standing where our Good Friday and our eucharist and our articles behold it. Not by ingenious intermixtures of uncertified miracles, nineteenth century creeds, and a concordist of evangelical volunteers will orthodoxy and liberty, law and love, the old things and the new things of the instructed scribe, be maintained together, but by loyalty to the one prophet, priest and king. "Ye call me master and Lord, and ye say well, for so I am." The Lord knew. The master then is the master still; the Lord of Israel is the Lord of America; for he and the father are one. Let his minister be not afraid to proclaim the incarnate God, or kneeling congregations be ashamed to adore him.

DR. PAUL M. BRENA

IS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL PHYSICIAN ON the Pacific coast in the treatment of all Chronic and Difficult Diseases of the Sexual Organs.

He will guarantee to cure any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease, if the patient follows his advice and treatment.

He has become an expert in the treatment of diseases, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the FOLLIES OF YOUTH, such as Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic diseases arising either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by a majority of the Medical Profession.

Persons afflicted by any form of sexual disease or weakness often delay in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and at times from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitution becomes corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence. Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances. Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail, if they are curable, and if not, he will tell you so.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

... of the continued use of mercury and potash for the treatment of Blood and Skin diseases—they never cure, and nearly always injure or totally ruin the general health.

A WELL KNOWN DRUGGIST.

My drug store was the first to sell Swift's Specific. It was then put up in quart bottles, which sold for $5 each. I have seen a great many cases cured by its use, and some who had tried all sorts of treatment. In fact I have never known it to fail when taken properly. I sell a large quantity of it, and for all diseases that are dependent on blood poison or skin humor. It cures

Pimples or Blotches on the Skin,

And makes the complexion fair and rosy. As for blood taint, there is no such word as fail. It cures cases that have long withstood other sorts of treatment, and without any of those recurring troubles that generally follow mercurial and other so-called cures.

T. L. MASSENBURG, Macon, Ga.

DRY TETTER.

For years I was afflicted with Dry Tetter of the most obstinate type. Was treated by many of the best physicians; took quantities of mercury, potash and arsenic, which, instead of curing the tetter, crippled me up with mineral poison and rheumatism. The tetter continued to grow worse, and the itching almost made me crazy. In this condition I was induced to take Swift's Specific, and the result was as astonishing as it was gratifying. In a few months the tetter was entirely well, the mercurial poisoning all out of my system, and I was a well man—and due only to Swift's Specific. All like sufferers should take it.

JAMES DUNNING, Louisville, Ky.

WHAT A PHYSICIAN SAYS.

CYPRESS RIDGE, MONROE CO., ARK., July 23, 1883.

I have a bright little daughter who will be two years old next month. She has been troubled nearly ever since her birth with a skin disease, which I first diagnosed chicken-pox, but later found it to be some sort of eczema; at any rate it resisted very stubbornly all the different treatments. I procured one bottle of Swift's Specific and gave it to her in small doses three times a day, and in a short while had the satisfaction to see that she was entirely well. I am so well pleased with its effects on her that I shall not only use it in my practice, but I shall administer it to my other children and take it myself.
